And looked down one as far as I could Two roads diverged in a yellow wood, To where it bent in the undergrowth; And be one traveler, long I stood And sorry I could not travel both

Because it was grassy and wanted wear, Had worn them really about the same, And having perhaps the better claim Though as for that the passing there Then took the other, as just as fair,